

100 MILLION IN THE AUDIENCE

Your blog is their stage! Röntgenshall – not only the first band in history to tour the Internet but also re-thinking the music business thing. Four young men with staches and blitz & donner from electric guitars do the pop-star-in-reverse: their music is free and entirely promoted via the Internet. Download, copy and share it! Become a fan and get inspired – let's try together an alternative approach to promote and distribute music.

Röntgenshall – led by the wild and gefährlich Dr. Reimund Blumen, Siegfried, Herr Stock and the nameless Bassplayer developed their own style of Geek Rock. They just released »Hot & Wunderbar«: Five sweet and stinky indie rock singalongs you can download for free. Discover »Almost Real Joy« when you meet »Kicky Carmen«, the girl from the spam mail. Enjoy 15 minutes of fame when they »Put Gabi on TV« and make »Your Glamorous Life« even better by humming the »Blue Song of Death«.

Röntgenshall consider themselves rather as an experimental than a band. They think music makes sense when it is shared, covered, sampled & sung in bathrooms. Maybe this is folk music 2.0. Although Röntgenshall is not the only band out there that releases their music without any record label on the Internet. Perhaps it is the first band that was formed to only do so.

So it's all about encouraging more bands to liberate themselves from traditional industrial mechanisms that try to limit creativity to the selling factor. The Internet is such an exciting media because everyone can publish content that could reach millions of people all around the world.

So if you like this philosophy, you should spread the word for Röntgenshall! Become friends on MySpace, join their fan club, write a review on their record at jamendo.com! If you have a band, perhaps you are inspired to make something similar.

It is your creativity that should reach as many people as possible!
